Nearly 130 Missouri youths were all business as they evaluated seven classes of horses at the 2010 State 4-H Horse Judging contest, Feb. 20, on the University of Missouri campus.

Congratulations to Courtney Hall who is a member of the Cass County 4-H team. The Cass County team won the Senior Division, for ages 14-18, of the MU Extension 4-H contest. Courtney is from Creighton, Missouri and a member of MPH. Courtney's team members are Lauren Crudup of Belton and Erin Wagner of Raymore.

In the contest, the young people compared four horses in each class based on desirable breed traits and rank the animals from most to least desirable. They also explained their rankings to the judges.

The Cass County team will represent Missouri in the National 4-H Horse Judging competition in Louisville, Ky., this fall. Good luck and congratulations on this great achievement.
